WILL MEET IN BELLEFONTE

Homoeopathic Medical Society of Central Penna. to Visit Our City

ALTOONA WANTED THE HONOR

But it Was Finally Given to the Prettiest Little City in the State—About Fifty Physicians to be Present.

The Tenth semi-annual meeting of the Homoeopathic MedicalSociety of Central Pennsylvania will be held in this city, at the Bush House on Tuesday, May 19th. The indications are that it will be the most successful meeting ever held in the history of the society.

It is expected that about fifty visiting physicians will be in attendance and very interesting sessions are promised.

The last meeting was held at Tyrone, and Altoona tried hard to secure this one, but after a spirited contest the honor was given to Bellefonte. As it will be the first time in the history of the society that a meeting has been held in this city, the visit will naturally be one of more than ordinary interest.

The session will have the following Bureaus:

CLINICAL MEDICINE—Drs. Locke, Wesner, Taylor and Scheurer.

PATHOLOGY—Drs. Hall, Reinhold, and Burnley.

OBSTETRICS—Drs. Smith, Walters, and Maust.

GYNAECOLOGY—Drs. Books, Morrow and Baker.

MATERIA MEDICA—Drs. Haag Bigelow and Piper.

SURGERY—Drs. Cheyney, Sharbaugh, Pringle and Heinbach.

President Dr. Howard Cheyney of Williamsport, will preside over the meeting. Besides the above named speakers and instructors there will be Dr. Carl V. Vischer of Philadelphia, demonstrator on surgery; Dr. Pratt of Chicago, professor of surgery; Drs. Charles Mohr and Frank Buch of Philadelphia, and Dr. Edward M. Evans of Baltimore.

The meetings of this society embrace more than the usual routine of such sessions. Epidemics in various towns, their cure and prevention will be thoroughly discussed, the number of cultivation of various germs will be shown, and reports received on various and new epidemics that attack towns

At the conclusion of the sessions a banquet will be given at the hotel for the visitors Plates for fifty guests will be laid and altogether the affair promises to be successful in every particular.

The Facts in the Case.

The oft repeated declaration that it is far safer to travel on the railroad than to remain in your own house, is regarded by many people as a mere figure of speech, but it is a sober fact nevertheless. The records show that only one person out of 28,000,000 who rides on the English railroads is killed annually. In France the ratio is one in 19,000,000 in Germany one in 10,000,000. The United States is low down in the list, the average being out of every 2,000,000. In safety in railroading we fall behind the careful methods of most countries of Europe and still have much to learn.

To Straighten Spokes.

An expert says that a simple device for straightening the spokes of a wheel is to use a blue or red pencil, holding it in the hand so that the point just grazes one of the spokes. The pencil hand is then held tightly on the rim of the wheel, which is then slowly revolved. If any of the spokes are not perfectly true they will be marked by the pencil and can be tightened.

Bibicial Question.

Who was the boy and what was his name who held the basket containing the five loaves, and two fishes?

CHURCH TROUBLE SETTLED.

Peace Once More Reigns in Hopewell Church.

Uniontown, Pa., April 27.—The trouble in the Hopewell Cumberland Presbyterian church in Luzerne township has been settled and peace and quiet now hangs over the little meeting house, which for months has been the scene of lively contention. The board of elders, composed of J. G. Vernon, T. H. Cline, George W. Hershman, A. G. Swan, William Swan and N. E. Rorter, have resigned, and this bridges over the difficulty. The trouble dates back nearly two years, and at the time the presbytery met, it had assumed large proportions, involving most of the local disputes that have come up in that neighborhood within the past ten years. Rev. J. T. Neal, the pastor, has been in charge of the congregation for ten years, and during most of that time has served very acceptably. Recently however, he has incurred the enmity of some members of his flock. No formal charges were ever preferred against him, but some contended that he had outlived his usefulness. Some also said that he took too active a part in politics, he having, it is alleged, got into a factional fight for school director, in which he was successful.

Over $48,000 For Centre.

The state school department Officials have made their calculation for the distribution of the $5,500,000, which has been appropriated to the school districts. This year the rating, $3 30 1 5, is made for every taxable in each district, which amount is a little less thanthat of the pas three years. Under this rating Clinton county will receive $31,705.80. Other surrounding and eastern counties will receive their shares as follows: Bedford,$38,914, 07; Berks, $136,478.72; Blair, $70,352.41; Cambria, $65,673.48; Centre, $48,411.62; Chester, $90,365.83; Clearfield, $74,684.64; Columbia,$38,897.56; Cumberland,$57,375 55; Dauphin,$94. 542.96; Franklin.$50,137 57; Fulton, $11,761.72; Huntingdon, $34, 017.20; Juniata,$19,345.91; Lancaster,$149 564.06; Lebanon, $49.823.88; Lycoming, $71,947.28; Mifflin, $24,084.69; Montour, $16,143.96; Northumberland, $85,426.04; Perry, $31,487.87; Snyder, $21,489.42; Union,$17,540.37; York, $121,924.90

Beaten By Burglars.

Sharon, Pa., April 27.—James Foster a farmer living at Clarksville, was struck on the head by two burglars early this morning, who were discovered at work in his home, and severely hurt. He was awakened about 11:30 o'clock by hearing some one in his room, and, getting out of bed, he secured a revolver. He tried to light a lamp, but received a blow in the face. He was forced to his knees by the blow, but fired three shots at them while they were climbing out the window. The shots did not take effect. Nothing of value was stolen. There is no clew to the robbers.

Holmes Will go the Rope Route.

Philadelphia April 29.—With the refusal of Gov. Hastings to grant Holmes a reprieve, last hope of the murder is killed and unless death by natural means or suicide should intervene he will surely swing from the gallows on May 7. Holmes wrote his petition to the governor without consulting his lawyers and they were utterly surprised to-day when they learned of his course. With the mail that brought Holmes's petition for a reprieve were two letters from Galva Ill., one from Mrs. Pietzell's father and the other signed by 9,000 citizens, remonstrating against any delay in executing the law's decree. No further steps can be taken to stay the execution and Holmes's lawyer's task is ended.

Suffocated by Gas.

Pottsville, Pa., April 27.—Matt Fleming and Edward Burns were suffocated by gas at Albright & Co.'s Silverton Colliery near Minersville this afternoon. Fleming's body has been recovered, but Burns has not yet been found. The latter came from Shamokin only a few days ago. Both were young men and unmarried.

Two Workmen Crushed.

York, Pa., April 27.—A cave-in occurred at the slate quarry of John W. Jones at Delta to-day, in which two workmen, Lew Evans and Harry Jonee, were crushed almost beyond recognition. Both the victims lived at Delta.

"DRUMMER BOY OF SHILOH"

Presented at Garman's Opera House on Wednesday Evening.

GAVE SPLENDID SATISFACTION

The General Opinion Was That It Was the Best Home Talent Production Ever Held in a Bellefonte Opera House.

"The Drummer Boy of Shiloh," as presented at Garman's Opera House on Wednesday evening, was a complete success. Quite a large crowd was present and out of these hundreds of people there was not one who was not immensely pleased.

The play was produced by home talent and each and every one that took part is deserving of great praise for the admirable rendition of the great war drama. That this is voiced by the people was well illustrated by the prolonged applause that was accorded the performers during the evening.

For several weeks the company had been practicing hard to make it a success. That they succeeded far better than anyone expected was the unanimous opinion of the large crowd that thronged the Opera House on Wednesday evening.

The story of the play is a pretty one and appeals to the heart as only "The Drummer Boy of Shiloh" can. Interspersed with quaint humor, the audience is convulsed with laughter only to be brought to tears the next moment by the intense pathos of the different parts.

The story portrays the breaking out of the civil war. The scene is laid at the home of Farmer Howard in the country. Major Rutledge, U. S. A., with his wife and son, of Kentucky, are visitors at the Howard home. Major Rutledge and Farmer Howard are close friends, as are their families. Farmer Howard has three sons, Mart, Harry and Johnny—the latter always in mischief but still his mother's favorite and the pride of his father.

While Major Rutledge is visiting the Howard home, Mart brings in a paper containing the terrible tidings that war is inevitable and that Fort Sumter has already been fired upon.

The two families are at the dining table at the time and they differ as to which cause is just—the North or the South. The discussion waxes warm and finally Frank Rutledge, the son of the Major, denounces the cause of the North and declares he will take up the gray. The sons of Farmer Howard resent this attack and then Major Rutledge and his son are driven from the Howard home. As they leave they swear revenge for the insult Matters soon come to a crisis. The call for volunteers is made and Mart and Harry Howard are among the first to respond. Uncle Joe, the servant of Major Rutledge, decides to run away and join the Union ranks.

The breaking up of the old homestead and the old mother's grief as she tearfully bids her boys good bye adds a realism to the scene that must be seen to be even imagined.

Johnny, too, wants to go, but is kept back by his mother, who feels that she has already spared enough sons. Johnny, however, is not satisfied and, stealing away from home, appears at the recruiting station and asks to be put on the list. His father and mother have come to see their sons off when the recruiting officer asks their consent for the enlistment of their youngest son. Although it almost breaks her heart to do so, Mrs. Howard cannot resist the appeals and so Johnny is enlisted as the Drummer boy.

The scenes then change to the battle field. Mart Howard is sent out as a spy to obtain information as to the enemy's plans. He is captured, court martialed and sentenced to die. Uncle Joe, however, appears on the scene and helps him to escape, which causes Sergeant Frank Rutledge to storm with anger.

The most realistic part of the play is the battle field of Shiloh by night. Here are strewn the wounded and dead of the day's battle. Mart and Johnny Howard lie near each other and both are wounded. The groans of the wounded and their cries for water are pitiful to hear. Major Rutledge is fatally wounded and is raving for a drink of water. By his side is Mart Howard, and although avowed enemies Mart is unable to resist the heart-rending appeal and hands over his canteen to the wounded Major. The latter soon dies but not, however, until he has asked Mart Howard to tell his father that he regretted his treason to his country. Sergeant Rutledge coming along the battle field finds his father dead. His heart is filled with fury and seeing little Johnny lying there wounded, he sees an opportunity for revenge and has the drummer boy led away to the Confederate prison. But Sergeant Rutledge is to be still further revenged. Seeing Mart Howard unable to move he roughly seizes him and drags him away to be cast into the horrible Confederate pen.

The next scene is the Andersonville stockade. Here are union soldiers starving for bread. Among them are Mart and Johnny who are almost famished. Triumphing over them is the fiendish Sergeant Rutledge who glories in his cruelty. The loud cries of the prisoners for bread fails to touch his heart. He humbles Mart Howard who kneels to him in order to obtain food for his brother Johnny. The latter is, however, too proud to be so humbled and he defies the heartless sergeant and is in turn killed for his bravery. At this juncture the union forces arrive and the prisoners are freed. Harry Howard finding his little brother dead, murdered by Frank Rutledge, is crazed with fury and shoots him down in an instant.

The boys are granted a furlough home for a few days and while there are informed that the cruel war is over and that the north has been victorious and that their days of hardship are over. This is the signal for rejoicing upon all sides and the fatted calf is killed at the Howard home. Mart Howard is returned to his young wife and Tom Elliott is made happy by winning the hand of Jennie Howard. All is joy and happiness once more and the curtain drops only to find the auditors still waiting and loth to leave.

The cast of characters is as follows:

NOTES.

"The Drummer Boy of Shiloh" will be produced at the opera house again to-night.

Prof. Wigle is deserving of much praise for the skillful way the play was rendered. He had his talent well trained and there was not a single hitch to mar the whole program.

Hugh Taylor made a splendid villian.

James Harris and Miss Katharine Harris were a typical irish couple and fairly brought down the house with their original makeup and acting.

Hard Harris as "Fatty Smith" was a whole show himself and cut a large figure in the evening's enjoyment.

Fred B. Wigle makes a first class "Uncle Joe." He has the part down down fine and his acting is far superior to a good bit of the so-called professional.

DOINGS IN THE COURT ROOM

What Has Been Done Recently In the Temple of Justice.

GRAND JURY'S REPORT IN BRIEF

New Bridge for Sinking Creek—Repairs to the Court House Recommended—Other Items Commented Upon.

Court convened at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and the first case called was that of the Commonwealth vs. Roy Johnson, charged with betrayal, prosecutrix Maud Haupt. Case continued and recognizance renewed and filed.

The next case was Com. vs. Lincoln Miller, charged with assault, charge preferred by Martha Miller. Nol prosse entered.

Com. vs. Frank Campbell, charged with assault and battery; settled.

Another nol prosse was the case of the Com. vs. Michael Hayes, who was charged with assault and battery, prosecutor, Milton Robb.

The case of Com. vs. Grant Kline was then called. The defendant was charged with furnishing liquor to the prisoners in the jail. The prosecutor was requested to enter a nol prosse.

Another betrayal case was that of Com. vs. Seth B. Pratt; Emma Tressler prosecutrix. Prosecution entered a nol prosse.

The case of the Com. vs. Irwin Bennett was also nol prossed. The defendant was charged by George Bennett with assault and battery.

A nol prosse was requested to be entered in the case of the Com. vs. J. T. Clabby, who was charged with perjury. George Gates prosecutor.

The case of Com. vs. John E. Mullen was then taken up. The defendant was charged by John B. Lingle with carrying concealed deadly weapons and assault. The case went to the jury and a verdict of "not guilty and the prosecutor, John B. Lingle, to pay the costs," was rendered.

Court then adjourned until Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

TUESDAY MORNING.

But little was done in Court this morning.

Lewis Plowman convicted of betrayal, was given the usual sentence.

Adam Gingher, guilty of betrayal, May Dukeman prosecutrix, was given the sentence usually imposed in such cases.

A civil case was then brought up. The contestants were Thomas Meyers vs. Walter E. Meek and others. The plaintiff secured judgment for $6,280.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Samuel Walk and Richard Fink was then taken up. The defendants were charged with larceny, some eighteen indictments being brought against them. The majority of these were quashed by the Court and the case commenced. It occupied almost two hours of this morning's session and was still on trial when Court adjourned.

The Kurtz-Focht libel suit, of which so much has been said during the last month and which was to have come up for trial this week, was brought to a sudden close on Tuesday afternoon. B. K. Focht and A. D. Miller, the defendants, signed a complete retraction of the libelous article and paid $50 towards defraying the costs of the case.

Among the cases that have come up are the following:

Com. vs. George Graham, charged with betrayal, Agnes DuBois prosecutrix. Defendant found not guilty.

Com. vs. Richard Fink, charged with larceny. Guilty and sentenced to pay $1 fine, costs of prosecution and undergo imprisonment in the penitentiary for one year,

Com. vs. Harry Humpton and "Hank" Watson, charged with assault. Bill ignored and the prosecutor, Isaac Lawver, to pay the costs.

Com. vs. W. A. Cross and M. A. Cross, charged with perjury. Under settlement.

Com. vs. Samuel Bowers and John Smith, Overseers Howard township, charged with neglect of duty. Not a true bill and costs placed on Washington Tipton, the prosecutor.

Com. vs. John Hayes, charged by John Madill with larceny. Defendant plead guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $1, costs of prosecution and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for four months.

Com. vs. J. H. Hill, charged by Annie Swab with indecent assault. Defendant was discharged and costs put on the prosecutrix,

A few minor cases were disposed of on Wednesday afternoon at the Court House.

The report of the Grand Jury was then presented. Out of 24 indictments 19 true bills were found and 5 ignored. A bridge was recommended for over sinking creek in Potter Township. A covering was suggested for the top of the jail wall. Repairs to the Treasurer's office and a new roof to the Court House also came in for recommendation.

Gave up the Ghost.

Atlanta Constitution, April 17, 1896.

Selma, Ala., April 16.—The Alabama Telephone Construction company, known as the Harrison Telephone exchange of Selma, has collapsed. The exchange was built just eighteen months ago to compete with the Southern Bell Telephone exchange. The poles and wires were sold yesterday at a nominal price, said to be enough to cover the outstanding indebtedness. The original investment proved a total loss.

WHY THEY SOLD.

The Secretary of the Alabama Telephone Company Gives the Reason.

The Selma Journal, April 16, 1896.

George A. Wilkinson, secretary of the Alabama Telephone and Construction company, in conversation with a reporter of the Journal this morning, said in answer to a question as to why the company abandoned the telephone business in Selma: "The simplest reason was that the exchange was not paying expenses. And there was no prospect of its doing so at the prices charged. It appears to be impossible with the instruments used, principally the Harrison to give satisfactory service that would bear comparison with the Bell. This was a constant source of complaint and annoyance.

"It is well enough to talk about home institutions and local influences, but the investors want and expect to receive some returns on their investments, and the people, the patrons of the Telephone Exchange, want, demand and must have good service. The prices charged and instruments used by our company would bring neither and this is the reason why we abandoned the field."

J. G. BAILEY, of Furguson township, is a candidate for commissioner subject to the decision of the republican county convention. Mr. Bailey is a farmer and a good one. He is one of the most intelligent and thoroughly qualified men for the position he seeks of any that will be before the convention as candidates. He has a strong personal following and if nominated will be a tower of strength to the ticket Such men should be sought for positions on the ticket this fall. What we want is a good ticket and a strong one, and a good ticket is always strong. No mistake will be made, therefore, if the convention in their wisdom shall nominate J. G. Bailey of Furgeron for commissioner.

—Look for the bicycle parade on Tuesday evening. It will be fine.

—Go and see "The Drummer Boy of Shiloh" to-night at the Opera House.

—The small boy made himself very annoying in the hallway at the Opera House last night. A good paddle would probably remedy this trouble.

—A person who has no higher object in life than to become skilled in the art of tattling about and magnifying the short comings of neighbors is a dangerous character, and if to this be added a love for and desire to be chief scandal monger of the town, he, she or it becomes a nuisance to be shunned with as much care as one would avoid contagion. A scandal-monger, be the thing man or woman, is a creature to be left severely alone.

JOHN NOLL, democratic candidate for sheriff, was down Penns Valley way last week looking after his political chances. The people of the valley are a little shy, however, of Bellefonte candidates.

going to school

Do the children go to school? And are they joyous and happy? Is school-life a pleasure? And is progress being made? Or is the opposite true? Does the close of each day bring a headache? There is no appetite and sleep is imperfect. The color gradually leaves the cheeks and only a little effort is followed by exhaustion. To continue school means to come to the end of the year with broken health. What is the best thing to do? Take 50 cts. and $1 a bottle. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

New York, April 24.—R. G. Dun & Co. will say tomorrow in their weekly review of trade:

Failures for the week have been 283 in the United States, against 230 last year, and 44 in Canada, agsinst 37 last year.

Business has been favored by seasonable weather, and the distribution of products has made fair progress, not yet reducing retail or wholesale stocks for enough, however, to materially improve the position of industries. Money markets have grown more favorable as well as the state of foreign commerce, and until an apparently groundless revival of discussion about the Venezuela difficulty there was brighter prospect of European investments here. The belief that agitation for cheap money will be permantly laid at rest this year is gaining ground, and in financial quarters causes more confidence for the future Prices of commodities are, on the whole lower than ever, before, having declined about 2 per cent, since April 1, and 17 per cent, since July, 1890, or October, 1892. The fall in manufactured products is a little less than it was 1, but in farm products greater.

Speculation is swayed by trifling influences when markets are very narrow. The recent advance checked buying of wheat for export, and Atlantic exports for the week were only 1,081,254 bushels, flour included against 1,768,873 last year while western receipts were 2,094 557 bushels against last year 1,975,408 last year. With generally fair prospects as to winter wheat the price dropped about two cents, nearly half the rise passed on gloomy reports early this month. Corn receipts continue heavy and the price is a shade lower. A single enterprising buyer was able to push up the price of cotton an eighth, though the progress of planting gives promise of a large yield and the receipts continue as large as in 1893, though about 396,000 bales larger for the year thus far.

Cotton goods were bought less freely last week and the northern mills have taken scarcely any cotton this month. The feeling is more hopeful because retail trade is better The situation in woolen goods does not improve.

The large orders taken for boots and shoes, when prices were reduced to last year's lowest more than a month ago, result in shipment nearly equal to last year's in April thus far, 5 per cent less. But new orders are not coming freely except for immediate delivery to fill out broken stocks. Leather is weaker. with heavy sales, averaging about 3 per cent, lower for the week, although hides at Chicago are a shade stronger.

Must be Labeled.

The department of agriculture has issued the order that all vegetables colored by any process must be distinctly labeled "Artificially Colored," or the person offering or selling them will be liable for the full penalties of the pure food law. This decision has been erroneously published as applying to French vegetables only; it this phase is accepted it may get innocent persons into trouble. The decision relates to any and all vegetables thus colored and the department has not singled out French vegetables as a class for the application of the law.

Arbor Day.

Arbor Day was appropriately observed in the Public schools in this city on Friday. Although the weather was rather inclement yet there was quite a large attendance of the parents of the different children.

The following program was carried out at the Primary schools of the stone building, taught by Misses Smith, Longacre and Dorworth:

Captured Cubs at Philadelphia.

The Philadelphia Ledgr says: In the window of a restaurant on South Broad street are two eight-weeks old black bear cubs that were captured in the fastness of the montains, about fourteen miles from Williamsport. The capture was made after a desperate battle by Frank Burd, who resides on the outskirts of Lock Haven. He was journeying through the mountain skirting the eastern side of the ridge, when he came upon three full grown bear and eight cubs, crouched in a clump of scrub oak. He fired into them and hit the mother of the cubs, who advanced toward him sorely wounded to do battle while the other large bears made rapid tracks towards Rattlesnake run gulch. The cubs followed their mother, and Burd, after firing again, was forced to club with his rifle, with which he stunned the old bear and then dispatched her finally with his knife. While the cubs played around the body he made a deep pit near the pipe line of the Standard oil company, dropped the cubs into it, covered it with heavy logs and left for home, returning the next day with a wagon and assistance for his living trophies. The two cubs were first exibited in the window of a restaurant on Ridge avenue and proved so great an attraction that the proprietor was forced to get rid of them, not, however until after they had succeeded in smashing up a valuable cigar case.

Kidney Trouble Cured.

The importance of knowing just what to do when one is afflicted with kidney disease or troubles of a urinary nature, is best answered by the following letter which was recently published in the Poughkeepsie, N. Y., News-Press:

Millertown, Dutchess Co., N.Y.

"Dr. David Kennedy, Dear Sir:—For more than eighteen months I was so badly afflicted with kidney trouble I could scarcely walk a quarter of a mile without almost fainting. I did not gain any until I began to use Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. After using the first bottle I noticed a decided improvement which continued, and I know that saved my life, for I was in a miserable condition up to the time I began to take it—my friends thought I would never be better.

My sister also has been very sick with bladder trouble for over a year, so bad that quantities of blood would come from her. She suffered at times most frightful pain, and nothing seemed to help her until she began to use Dr. David Kennedy Favorite Remedy. She is now using her third bottle, and is like a different person.

Mrs. Thomas Dye.

Watch the Book Agents.

A neat swindle is being worked in several towns in this part of the state, and Bellefonte residents are hereby cautioned. A woman book agent appears and goes from house to house leaving books for examination. Next day a man calls to see if the books are wanted. A few days latter the woman agent appears again, and on being told the man has taken away the book, weeps copiously, says the villian has been collecting her books all over town, pleads poverty and accepts the proffered compensation.

How's This?

(From the Business Manager of the "Annie Ward Tiffany Co.")

Mr. Fred B. Weigle, "The Webster,"

My Dear Sir:—Allow me to thank you for the pleasant evening I passed in witnessing "The Drummer Boy of Shiloh" and to say that I never saw amateurs so well trained, in fact the entire production was far better than many of the so called professional productions, and the play and tableaux are very interesting. Wishing you much success in the future, I am, Yours always,

It was a complete suprise to Miss Edith but nevertheless a very enjoyable one and that charming young lady recovering as quickly as possible proceeded at once to make everybody feel perfectly at home. That she succeeded goes without saying and the evening only passed away too quickly. Delicious refreshments were served during the evening which added materially to the success of the affair.]

A Double Tragedy.

Meadville, Pa., April 23.—A horrible double murder, the most atrocious in the history of Crawford County, was penetrated two and one-half miles south west of here at 1.15 this afternoon. Edward Karleskind a well known gardener, shot his wife three times in the head and then cut his own throat with a razor, dying instantly. The woman lived about two hours after she was shot. The only witness to the tragedy was the little daughter 3 years old. In her baby fashion, she says her father first struck her mother felling her to the floor; and then shot her and ended it all by taking his own life.

Karleskind was 41 years old and his wife 25. They were married about 7 years ago and often quarrelled recently. About six months ago she left her home and returned to the home of her parents, but her husband promised to do better and she returned to his house. He was not an intemperate man as regards to drink, but had an ungovernable temper, and at times was insanely jealous. The quarrel to-day was over the fact that his wife was making preperations to leave him again, and it is thought her actions maddened him.

Fatal Accident.

The two year old child of a Hungarian miner residing near Blue Ball, while playin the yard last Monday, fell into the well and was drowned. It was perhaps, an hour or more before the mother missed the child from in front of the door, and after searching around for some time thought of the well, and peering down, saw the body of the child. She gave an alarm, and shortly afterwards, with the assistance of neighbors the body was recovered. Word was sent to her husband, and on his return home he became very angry at the carlessness as he expressed it, of his wife, and at once attacked her, first with his hands. and then with a club. His wife made her escape by running away from him, and not having her to vent his anger upon, made a vigorous attack on the kitchen stove, kicking it over and scattering the pieces about the room. Seeing his wife standing in the yard, he grabbed up a big butcher knife, and made for her. Again she escaped, being able to outrun her husband. She finally sought the protection of a neighbor until the anger of her husband had exhausted itself. —Philipsburg Record.

May Make Improvements.

Architect Robert Cole, of Bellefonte, will draw plans with a view of altering the interior of the council chamber. Among the improvements contemplated are changing the present arrangement of the seats, repapering and painting. The plans will likely be presented at the next meeting of council. The making of these improvements, however, will be determined by the cost.—Lock Haven Democrat.

Protection Will Not Wait.

The country is rapidly and conclusively answering the proposition of the misguided enemies of American idustry to the effect that protection can wait. From every quarter comes the most emphatic refusal to accept this unwise, untimely and unpatriotic suggestion. The whole nation has suffered in consequences of Democratic restoration and the adoption of an economic policy at variance with that under which there was universal prosperity Ever since the real intention of the present National Administration and its supporters in the last congress became manifested there has been a development of public sentiment of uncomprising hostility to the theories and purposes of free traders of every class. The fact is bitterly recalled that it was only on account of Cleveland's false promises that he was given a second term and his party a commission to revise the tariff. Had there been the remotest expectation that the results would be what they have been. Mr Harrison would have been relected in 1892. If the wronged teilers of the land could have forseen the costly consequence of supporting the Democratic candidate four years ago, they would with overwhelming unanimity, have turned against him and his un-American and ruinous policy.

There has not been an hour during the three past years when the vast majority of the people throughout the great industrial States particularly have not been fully determined that there shall be a change of pollicy in connection with the tariff at the earliest possible date. With eager impatience the people have awaited the opportunity to execute their desires, and every Republican State Convention which has met this year has unqualifiedly declared for the restoration of the policy of protection which was successfully pursued by that party for more than thirty years. Upon this issue Republicans are united as never before. Throughout the West, as Mr. Depew has suggestivly observed, there is a protection furor which will carry the St. Louis convention resistlessly. Under such circumstances the opposition will seek in vain to divide the Republican party, or to bring confusion into its councils and disaster to its cause. Thursday's State convention in Maine, New Jersey and Kentuckey united in most emphatic declarations upon this subject, and everybody knows what Pennsylvania will say with relation thereto. Even New York was compelled to denounce the present tariff and to demand its radical revision. Protection, therefore will not wait and those who give such advice, no matter what the measure of their intelligence or influence in other rerespects, will find that they are without followers amongst those who believe in Republican principles.

Besides, there is no possible excuse for such a course being considered for one moment. It would be the essence of unwisdom for the Republican National Convention, either in its platform or through the standard bearer selected, to make a haltering or doubtful deliverance with regard to this matter. In such a case the campaign would be lacking in a vital element. It would not arouse the enthusiastic and determined devotion of those classes of people who have so sorely felt the effects of the existing disorder of things. One reason why the west has taken the bit in its teeth on this question is the experience which woolraisers have under gone, while farmers in general have realized that the free trade theory is based upon principles the carrping out of which must always result to their injury. Cheap foreign manufactured products mean cheap American labor unremunerative prices for the products of the soil, and the hardest kind of times for the American agriculturist. The people of the west want no more of this sort of thing, and there should be the most cordial unity amongst republican voters in all parts of the country in the election of a majority in both branches of the next Congress which will obey the popular will co-operate with the republican president in restoring national prosperity.

As matters now stand it is also seen that there is no necessity for making the protection issue a secondary one on account of any danger of the adoption of an unwise financial policy by the party which will presently come into power. That issue also is now practically settled in favor of a sound and safe system of national currency. It is indeed under all the circumstances surprising what unamity there has been in taking a courageous forward step along this line. Even most of the silver states recognize the danger to the country involved in arrying out the threat of party division which has been so inconsiderately made, and it is evident that the number of those delegates in the St. Louis Convention who will refuse to accept a platform declaring for the maintenance of an existing standard and in opposition to unlimited coinage of silver will be so small as to involve no danger to success at the polls in November next.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

A NEW COMPANY ORGANIZED.

Baltimore and Milton Parties Are In The Company—W R Jenkins of This Place is Manager.

On Saturday some Baltimore and Milton parties came to Bellefonte to investigate the Jenkins Patent Rake. A thorough test was made and several rakes turned out to show the visitors just how the machine worked. The object of the visitors coming here was to organize a company if the rake came up to their expectation. The experiment was very satisfactory and the gentlemen were more than pleased with the result.

A company was organized under the name of The Jenkins Iron and Tool Company. The officers elected were: Andrew J. Deitrick, Baltimore, President; James T. Armstrong, Baltimore, Vice President; F. S. Chapin, Milton, Secretary and Treasurer; W. R. Jenkins, Bellefonte, Manager. The Directors of the Company are W. E. Jenkins, Milton; J. H. Lingle, Bellefonte; A. J. Deitrick and James T. Armstrong, Baltimore, and W. R. Jenkins, Bellefonte. The new company will manufacture garden rakes and tools of various kinds. They purchased J. Fearon Mann's interest in the rake patent, and now own it entirely themselves.

Work will be commenced at once on the manufacture of the rakes and they will be put on the market as soon as possible. They will, for the present, be manufactured at Jenkins & Lingle's machine shops at the old car works. The offices, too, will be located in Bellefonte.

We hope the new enterprise will be a success and we believe it will. The company is composed of practical business men—men of long experience in the manufacture and handling of iron in its every stage and who can and will make the venture a success if such a thing is possible. As to the rakes they intend manufacturing, too much cannot be said in their praise. Simple in construction, but perfectly durable, they cannot help but meet with favor on the market.

Of the other tools which the new company intends manufacturing, we are unable to comment on at the present time owing to the pending of different patents. From our own knowledge of them, however, we can say that they cannot help but be a success as soon as the manufacture of them is once commenced.

THE GIRL MAY RECOVER

An Account of The Shooting By Warner E. Barr.

TAKEN FROM THE MANSFIELD "NEWS"

The Young Man Went to the House With the Intention of Killing Nettie Steele—Is Sorry He Didn't Succeed.

About 6 o'clock Thursday evening the lower part of the city was thrown into an uproar by the shooting of a girl named Nettie Steel, an inmate of Martha Smart's resort, No. 192 North Sugar street, by W. E. Barr, a young man from Shelby. The shooting was a premeditated affair carried out with a stern resolve. The girl was shot four times and the great wonder of the authorites and physicians is that she survived for any length of time after the tradegy was enacted.

Details of the affair which was every being discussed last night, as gathered by a News reporter, are as follows; Barr is the foreman of a department in the Shelby Steel Tube works. It is stated that his home is in Tyrone Pa. Barr has been working at the tube works for some time. He says that he first visited this city last September and the origin of the tragedy which occurred last night dates back to that time.

According to his own statement, Barr came here from Shelby Wednesday night with the intention of killing the girl. He visited Idabelle Gardener's place Wednesday night and while in the house he exhibited a revolver and flourished it in such a manner that all the inmates of the place fled. About 6 o'clock that evening Barr went to the Smart house and requested that the girl Nettie Steel be sent for, stating that he wished to tell her a funny story. When the girl appeared Barr drew his revolver and began firing point blank at her. He discharged four chambers of the weapon, all of the bullets taking effect. Three of the missiles went into her head and the fourth passed through the right fore-arm.

After the shooting Barr ran out of the house tossing the revolver to one side as he ran. People were attracted to the place by the explosions. Jesse Kneeland and Henry Crosmer followed Barr and had no trouble in catching the would be murderer as he made little effort to get away. When asked why he had shot the girl he stated that he had contracted from her an incurable disease and could not live long and he had made up his mind to kill her also. Capt. Heiser then made his appearance and took the man to the city jail, where he was locked up on the charge of shooting with intent to kill.

When the shooting occured the Steel girl had on a white dress and in a few moments she was bathed in blood. The three bullets which entered the head penentered the scalp above the right temple and lodged there. Such a crowd collected in a few minutes after the shooting that it was impossible to get to the house. Messengers were dispatched for physicians and Drs. Craig, Maglot, and Bushnell appeared. The girl had then recovered consciousness and was very plucky and refused to be placed under the influence of a potion while the doctors probed the wounds. After a large amount of work the doctors succeeded in extricating two of the battered leaden bullets from the girl's head. Whether or not the girl's skull is fractured is not known. The attending physicians say it will be impossible to predict the results of the shootuntil three days have passed. The girl, it is stated is about 20 years of age and is a daughter of Daniel Steel who formerly kept a cooper shop on the north side. The Smart place is one of the lowest dives in the city and is under the supervision of city health authorities.

While on the way to the city prison Barr talked freely of the shooting. He asked Capt. Heiser whether there was such a thing as a lynch law in this part of the country and added that if there was he wanted to be hung to the nearest telegraph pole. Barr is about 24 years old, and was at one time a fine looking young man. He stated that he had recently returned from Hot Springs Ark.

Barr was arraigned in police court this morning. The prisoner gave his name as Warner Ellsworth Barr, aged 23 years. Barr changed his mind this morning and decided that he didn't want to die or be hung as speedily as he thought he did last night. He claime in court that the shooting was entirely unpremeditaed and that he was sorry he did the job. On the other hand when placed in jail last night he told the officers that he wanted to make sure that he did a good job. T. R. Robison was requested to act as Barr's attorney and upon his advice the prisoner entered a plea of not guilty of shooting with intent to kill. He was bound over to common pleas court in the sum of $2,000 and in default of bail was sent to await the investigation by the grand jury Marshall Patton then removed the prisoner to the county jail. Barr was very nervous throughout the hearing. Among other things Barr stated that his parents are dead.

In Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia and America, the five great continents, Shaker medicines are being used by suffering humanity for the cure of sickness and disease.

Never was there such a universal demand never such wonderful results.

Shaker Digestive Cordial a cure for indigestion, is prepared from herbs and roots, and is a natural remedy, which cures by aiding nature and not by fighting her.

Shaker Digestive Cordial makes those fat, who have become thin by not digesting their food.

It restores the spirits and the appetite of those who are dejected and fagged out from the wearing effects of indigestion.

It relieves the symptoms of dyspepsia, and, after useing for a reasonable time, finally cures the complaint. All druggists. Trial bottle 10 cents.

Fire Wall for a Coal Mine.

Pottsville, Pa., April 28.—For 20 years one of the veins of the Anchor colliery, at Heckersville, has been afire, and no special efforts were made to extinguish it. It has now been decided to sink slopes at either side of the vein and wall it in, thus confining the fire to a small limit, and allowing other parts of the mine to be worked.

Watch Your Wife!

Not lest she do some great wrong, but that you prevent her suffering many of them. Watch her that she suffer not from the many insidious diseases which afflcit women, dragging them down and enfeebling them till life becomes a burden, and from which too few are altogether exempt. By getting her a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the great female restorative tonic and nervine, you will furnish her the means to alleviate and speedily cure "Female Weakness," displacements, dragging pains, ulceration, weak back, general debility, and the wan, jaded look will give place to the ruddy glow of health before its influence. Dr. Pierce guarantees a cure, or money returned.

A Singular Fatal Accident.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 28.—John Llewellyn, a miner, was crossing a track along which the breaker cars were drawn when a wire rope attached to a trip of cars broke and the end flying up struck him, his legs being broken and his skull fractured. He died almost instantly.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our regular correspondent.

Washington April 27th. 1896

Senator Tillman's head is about ten times as big, in his own mind, since he returned from his Western trip. He actually believes that his chance for being nominated for President by the Chicago Convention on a free silver platform is a good one, and he says there is no longer the slightest doubt that the silver democrats will control the convention. He thinks that Western tour has made him so solid with the democrats of that section that he is now planning for a Southern speech-making trip which will take in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi and Texas. When Tillman's aspiration for the democratic Presidential nomination were first talked about the Cleveland democrats regarded it as a joke, but they don't now. Just so were the Cleveland democrats at first disposed to pooh pooh the idea of the silver democrats controlling the Chicago convention. To-day most of them admit the probability that a majority of the Chicago convention will be silver men, but say they rely upon the influences which men like Senator Brice and ex-Secretary Whitney can bring to bear upon them after they got to the convention to prevent the adoption of a radical silver platform on the nomination of a silver man.

The Senate is now working under and understanding that nothing important shall be taken up until all of the Appropriation bills are disposed of, and some think that adjourment is probable on or about May 16, the date suggested at a recent conference of republican senators, but everybody recognizes that there can be nothing certain about it until a joint resolution on naming the day for adjournment has been actually adopted by the Senate. The House is allright and will promptly agree to any date set by the Senate, and will wait for the Senate to take the iniative.

Numerous Congressmen breathed easier when the announcement was made that the Venezuela Boundary Commission has decidad to send to The Hague for the purpose of having an expert examination made of the original Dutch documents in the Royal Archives, which bear upon the Venezuelan Boundary question. It had been rumored that the Commission had practically finished its work and would make its report to the President in a short time, and it was feared that if the report was made before Congress adjourned it would result in an indefinite prolongation of the session. But it is now known that the Commission cannot complete its work until those old Dutch documents have been carefully gone over, and possibly others at Madrid, which makes it certain that the report will not be made before next winter.

The idea that the Raines Excise law, passed by the New York Republican Legislature, was going to injure the republican party of that state is no longer held even by Democrats, on the contrary it is going to strengthen the republicans. Here is the opinion of Judge C. W. Mead, for some years a police judge in New York city, who is now visiting Washington: "At first it looked as though the Raines law would be so distasteful to the public that the Republican party would be made to suffer for its enactment. But there has been a great change of public sentiment; the people are beginning to realize the many good points of the law, and I am satisfied that the republicans will reap the benefit from it instead of disaster. It is best as good a statute as the ingenuity of man would contrive; it wipes out the dives where the poorer classes loaf and squander their earnings; it puts the business of selling liquor on the best possible plane by putting it in the hands of responsible men, and it does away with the corruption and blackmail of the old regime.'

This administration makes a record for partiality and prejudice in everything it touches. For the second time a board of his brother officers have submitted a report to Lieutenant Schofield a son of General Schofield, to be unfit for promotion, on account of his being very deaf surely a good enough reason

Tam O'Shanter's ride through the midnight wind with the horrible hobgoblins pursuing him was only a bad dream, or nightmare, which anybody is liable to experience as the result of overeating or an attack of biliousness or indigestion. To avoid such disagreeable experiences one or two of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be taken after a too hearty meal and the action of the stomach will thereby be quickened and the meal promptly digested.

Then too if Nature be assisted a little now and then in removing offending matter from the stomach and bowels you will thereby avoid a multitude of distressing derangements and diseases, and will have less frequent need for your doctors' services.

Of all known agents for this purpose, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best. Their secondary effect is to keep the bowels open and regular, not to further constipate, as is the case with other pills. Hence, their great popularity with sufferers from habitual constipation, piles and their attendant discomfort and manifold derangements.

The Pellets cure biliousness, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, costiveness, or constipation, sour stomach, loss of appetite, coated tongue, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, "heartburn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. One little "Pellet" is a laxative, two are mildly cathartic.

But for the second time, Secretary Lamont has disapproved the finding of the Military examining board, and has now directed that Lieutenant Schofield be re examined for promotion within six months. The explanation is that General Schofield is one of Mr. Cleveland's chums.

The disgraceful fight with ink bottles, sponge cups and other stray bits of Government stationery which representative Hall of Mo., and Money, of Miss., got into, in house, committee room the other day, indicates the present status of the silver and anti-silver democrats. Money is a silver democrat, and Hall was originally elected as one, but he was converted by Mr. Cleveland at the extra session of the fifty-third Congress which repealed the purchasing clause of the so called Sherman silver law and is now anti-silver. They are all ready to fly at each others throats and nobody will be surprised if the Chicago convention should end in a free fight in which more dangerous weapons than ink bottles will be used.

Refused the Demands of the Men.

Philadelphia, April 28.—A grievance committee of the employes of the Union Traction company to-day presented to the executive committee of the board of directors of the company list of grievances which which they asked to be adjusted The employes' committee which was received by the officials in the office of president Welsh and the conference lasted for over two hours. At the conclusion of the conference it was announced that all the demands of the men had been refused. A meeting of the general board of the Amalgamated association was held this afternoon for the purpose of taking action on the ineffectual conference.

It is conceded that the situation now is critical; that the refusal of the officials to agree to any of the demands has given the employes the alternative of striking or remaining at work with their alleged grievance unadjusted.

Two more union motormen, Nicholas Walters and Patrick Mullen were arraigned before Magistrate South to-day on charge of assaulting Edward Christenen and Charles Barnes, non union motormen. They were held in bail for court. This afternoon the accused were indicted by the grand jury, making nine cases of this character that have been found yesterday and to-day. The men will be tried in a few days.

Late to-night it was learned that at the meeting this evening the Central committee of the Amalgamated association decided to call a strike at 4 o'clock Thursday morning on the lines of the Union Traction company.

Helping Her Husband.

The young physician was tired when he returned from his evening's calls, but as he settled back in his easy chair, and his pretty wife of only a month or two took a seat beside him, he asked affectionately:

"And has my little wife been lonely?"

"Oh, no," she said, animatedly; "at least, not very. I've found something to busy myself with."

"Indeed!" he said, 'What is it?"

'Oh, I'm organizing a class. A lot of young girls and married women are in it, and we're exchanging experiences and teaching each other how to cook."

"What do you do with the things you cook?" he asked, interestedly.

"Oh, we send them to the neighbors just to show what we can do. There's one lodging house gets most of it It's great fun."

"Dear little woman," he said, leaning over and kissing her, "Always thoughtful of you husband's practice Always anxious to extend it."

Price of Nails Will Go Higher.

There will be a further advance in the price of nails on Friday, May 1, and with the raise of 15 cents on the keg, the retail price will also take a climb. This raise in price, said a local dealer in hardware, will affect both wire and cut nails and is due to the recent combine of the manufacturers.

A Letter to Aunt Rachel.

Cairo, Ill., August 29.

To Aunt Rachael Speer at Passaic N. J.

Dear Madame: We have used your Malarial Bitters for several months past and find it the best tonic we have ever used to wipe out all traces of malarial fever. My wife has been sickly, feverish, weak and languid for the past four seasons, and tried almost everything. We heard so much of your bitters that I concluded to try it; my wife's appetite has returned and she is strong, well and sprightly again and all owing to your Peruvian Malarial Bitters.

Law for Road Supervisors.

By a recent act of assembly road supervisors are empowered to proceed upon the request of any landholder whose property fronts on any public road, to establish a proper width and location for a sidewalk along each side of the highway. The width must not be less than six feet for fifty foot roads, and for roads of greater width the sidewalk shall be ten feet wide. When established the law requires the land owner to pay for and keep the sidewalk in repair.

GRAVE COMPLICATIONS

Often Arise From Little Things—Mr. James Roberts, a Scranton Citizen, Has an Experience.

Little things are constantly occurring that we do not attach much importance to at the time. They don't seem to amount to much, and perhaps only annoy us a little while. We unfortunately cannot see what effect they are to have in the future. Mr. James Roberts, a citizen of Scranton, residing at 1605 Lafayette street, told our representative something of his experience that clearly demonstrates what a little thing may grow to if it is overlooked. It seems Mr. Roberts caught a severe cold about three years ago, and at the time chills followed, and he had severe sweating attacks, which were often so bad he found it necessary to change his clothes. The complaint grew worse and bladder difficulties set in. A soreness and pain existed in the lower portion of the abdomen Urinary troubles followed, the urine was dark colored, depositing sediment. The kidneys were not performing their proper functions, and this was at root a kidney disorder. It was a difficult matter to even rise from a chair to a straight position without causing pain, and for a great portion of the time he was rendered incapable to work. Then he noticed the words of praise sounded for Doan's Kidney Pills, and getting a box at Matthews Bros.' drug store he began taking them. With the second day of their use he felt a change for the better, and now he gets around and is working with comparative ease and comfort. Most of the bad symptoms have entirely left, and they are all rapidly disappearing. Mr. Roberts is still taking Doan's Kidney Pills. He says that they are curing him, and that the greatest remedy of its kind is Doan's Kidney Pills. No remedy has ever been so successful with both old and young in righting the kidneys' action when deranged, and no medicine ever compounded has received such words of praise as Doan's Kidney Pills. 'Tis easy to prove our statements Watch for those may be neighbors of yours, whom you cannot doubt, no matter how skeptical you may be. Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

"DRUMMER BOY OF SHILOH"

grand and aided largely in making the evening's entertainment a success.

Alfred Brisbin was the favorite of the evening as "The Drummer Boy." The part was well taken—in fact it could not have been better.

Geo. R. Meek and Miss Myra Holliday were exceptionally good characters in their respective roles

To Miss Bessie Muffly who took the part of "Mrs. Howard," too much praise cannot begiven. She rendered some of the best acting ever seen on our stage.

Scott Harris took the role of 'Farmer Howard" in a very satisfactory manner.

Boyd Musser made a very acceptable "Major Rutledge,"

Miss Henrietta Butts sang a very pretty solo in the last act which was immensely enjoyed by the whole audience.

Miss Lulu Harper made a Beautiful "Goddess of Liberty."

Miss Millie Smith as "Mrs. Major Rutledge" was equal to the occasion and took her part in an admirable manner.

Maurice Trone portrayed the part of "Harry Howard" to perfection.

Misses Quigley and Smith were beautiful Sisters of charity and took their parts with a grace and skill seldom displayed by amateurs.

Others deserving of special mention are Paul Gerhart, S. D. Gettig, L. M Rearic, Samuel Taylor, Jerome Harper, C W. Smith, Malcolm Laurie, John Lose, Philip Garbrich and J. W. Alexander.

The soldiers, orderlies, ect. were well drilled and took their parts in a very creditable manner.

Domestic Legislation.

MAY WRIGHT SEWALL.

The opponents of Woman Suffrage often refer to legislation as if it dealt only with schemes of war, commerce and finance. They talk as if no topic of less magnitude than "bi-metalism," the "gold standard," "free rade" or 'protective tariff" were ever broached in Assembly Chambers. In truth, questions relating to finance, commerce and war engage but a fractional part of the time of our legislators, and high-sounding phrases should not be allowed to disguise the meaning, to the home, of even these subjects.

All legislatures spend much time in regulating tax rates and making laws relating to descent, guardians, marriage, divorce, wills, public schools, public libraries, public amusements, benevolent institutions, reform schools, truants, orphans, deserted and dependent infants, insane, feeble-minded and pauper women, minors, adulterated foods, city sanitation and public morals. Are women less directly concerned than men in any of these subjects? A continually increasing number of women hold property, and therefore have occasion to pay taxes and make wills. Half the pupils in the public schools are girls and many more than half the teachers are women. Girls as numerously as boys, women more numerously than men, patronize public libraries. In larger number than men, women serve the public as entertainers. The women who are actively engaged in studying the conditions of the poor and unfortunate and in organizing systematic effort to ameliorate these conditions are to the men thus engaged as ten to one. All legislation affecting childhood, all institutions for the criminal and poor, must interest women as directly as men. Who, if not women, are concerned in all legislation about food and sanitation? The vast amount of legislation on these subjects is a confession by the government that its final cause is the home, and it reveals the extent to which legislation lends itself to securing public conditions which will best conserve the interests of private life.

As one further result of this aspect of legislation, the function of women in the State is becoming apparent. The lesson of centuries has not been lost upon women. They have been taught that they are the guardians of home interests. If this be true is it not logically certain in a State whose object is to serve and conserve the home, that the guardians of the home are the proper critics, judges and directors of the State, at least in so far as the State deals with domestic questions? Women to-day are crippled in the performance of purely domestic duties by their exclusion from direct participation in legislation—crippled exactly as miners, weavers, machinists, farmers, lumbermen and merchants of the male sex would be, were these classes disfranchised.

No influence has done more to advance the social culture and enjoyment of the farmer than the Grange. Its educational influence cannot be estimated, but constant intellectual advancement attend all our efforts. The moral growth and influence of the farming community is now being felt in many ways, and soon the forces of evil will learn to dread the power of a drilled and disciplined army which cannot be bullied or bought. Substantial political reforms have already resulted from our labor, but still more important results may be expected in the near future."

The leaven is working, and quietly and surely public sentiment in the rural communities is being moulded and directed into channels that will overturn and destroy some of the evil forces which now control political results. The Grange will champion no class legislation, no class political party, but will boldly sustain the rights of every citizen to the untrammeled use of the ballot, for the protection of the home and dearest rights of every citizen.

Through the efforts of the Grange exerted upon Congress the extension of the Patents on Sewing Machines was prevented, saving to the people fully fifty per cent in the prices, amounting to millions of dollars annually. Now first class machines can be purchased direct from $16.50 to 20.00.—The Patron.

4-2-10t County Treasurer.

Carelessness With Money.

There is a very limited excuse for people having money in hand instead of putting it into some saving bank will persist in keeping it about their person or concealing it in their houses. Such foolish people appear to forget that it is almost impossible to keep the fact that they have money hidden on their person or premises from the knowledge of their neighbors. The consequence in a great many cases has been that dishonest persons set a watch upon the owner of the money and are very apt to find out where it is hidden. The result is almost invariably either regularly planned robbery or robbery preceded by murder or inhuman torture.

Banks and saving institutions are generally safe depositories, and are not only willing to take money on deposite, but in many instances to pay interest thereon. It is therefor the heigth of folly to hoard money in stockings, old trunks, in a cellar or garrets. If you have money for which you have no immediate use, take it to a bank selecting of course one that is known to be perfectly safe.—Philadelphia Star.

Spring Medicine

Your blood in Spring is almost certain to be full of impurities—the accumulation of the winter months. Bad ventilation of sleeping rooms, impure air in dwellings, factories and shops, overeating, heavy, improper foods, failure of the kidneys and liver properly to do extra work thus thrust upon them, are the prime causes of this condition. It is of the utmost importance that you

Purify Your Blood

Now, as when warmer weather comes and the tonic effect of cold bracing air is gone, your weak, thin, impure blood will not furnish necessary strength. That tired feeling, loss of appetite, will open the way for serious disease, ruined health, or breaking out of humors and impurities. To make pure, rich, red blood Hood's Sarsaparilla stands unequalled. Thousands testify to its merits. Millions take it as their Spring Medicine. Get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Results of the Big Strike.

Philadelphia, April 17.—Since the big Street car strike here last December there have been many assaults of non-union men who took the strikers' places and were retained in the retraction company's employ after the strike was declared off. This culminated to-day in the finding of true bills of indictment by the grand jury against William McGee, Joseph Dinsmore and William Harp, three union motormen who were arrested Saturday for having brutally beaten Daniel Kenan a non-union man.

The police authorities had determined if possible to break up these assaults and the three men were arraigned before Magistrate South and were placed under heavy bail to await the action of the jury. The latter body acted immediately and as stated above, found true bills against the prisoners this afternoon. They will be placed on trial to-morrow.

The board of directors of the Union Traction company to day adopted resolutions declaring that the persistent efforts of a few men in the company to stir up strife and incite disaffection among its employes interfered greatly with the company's business, and instructed the general manager to promptly discharge any employe found guilty of such hostility to the company and under no circumstance to reinstate such discharged employe into the company's servie.

The grievance committee of the employes will to-morrow have a conference with president Welsh, of the Union Traction company, in relation to the recent demands of the men for $2 per day for ten hour's work and the reinstatement of men discharged for unjust cause since December 10 last. The outcome of this conference is awaited with eagerness by the employes.

Scotch-Irish to Meet in Harrisburg.

Harrisburg, April 27.—The approaching congress of the Scotch-Irish Society of North America, which is to be held in this city June 4-6, will attract a large number of distinguished people.

Among the persons announced to address the congress are the Hon. Johnston, democratic candidate for governor of Alabama; the eloquent orator and distinguished preacher, Dr. Henry C. McCook, of Philadelphia; the Rev. Dr. Norcross, of Carlisle, who has selected as his subject, "The Scotch-Irish and Their Influence in the Cumberland Valley;" Chancelor McCracken, of the University of New York Robert E. Thompson, president of the Philadelphia high school, famous church historian and author of volumes on political economy; Dr. Wm. H. Egle, state librarian and Pennsylvania historian; Dr. James Moffit, president of Washington and Jefferson college, whose familiarity with Scotch-Irish history and Scotch-Irish peculiarities has made him a most acceptable speaker at many of the gatherings of his race.

In addition to this local committee is preparing a programme that will include a visit to some of the Scotch-Irish landmarks of the vicinity. The event promises to be a most interesting and enjoyable one to the descendants of those who were the frontiersmen 100 years ago.

He Stole to Sell.

New Castle, Pa., April 28.—Fred Shortman pleaded guilty to chicken stealing before Judge Wallace to-day and was sentenced three years to the penitentiary.

Shortman is one of the most remarkable chicken thieves on record. During the past winter he contracted with grocerymen here to furnish them with chickens. They supposed he was a huckster, and were surprised to learn that all of the chickens were stolen. Shortman's mode of operating was to hire a livery rig and drive into the country, where he would steal all the chickens in sight. When arrested at 3 o'clock one morning he had twenty six chickens in bags.

Poor Indeed.

There are degrees and kinds of poverty, just as there are differences of opinion among those who compute and measure poverty and riches by different standards. Some men deem themselves poor because they are less rich than others, again there are comparatively poor people who are satisfied with a competence, There is a kind of poverty for which no wealth can compensate, namely, a poverty of bodily stamina, evinced by nervousness and a derangement of the functions of digestion, bilious secretion and the bowels. To restore vigor upon a permanent basis there is one remedy that fully covers the requirements, "fills the bill," and this is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. By restoring digestion, giving a healthful impulse to the action of the bowels and liver and tranquilizeing the nerves, it fulfills the condition necessary to a resumption of strength by the system. It also overcomes malaria and rheumatism.

Will Ask Indemnity From Turkey.

Pittsburg, April 27.—W. L. Sachtelben, of Alton, Ill., who sent to Turkey in search of the missing Pittsburg wheelman, Frank Lenz, and ascertained that he had been murdered by Kurds, spent to-day with Lenz's mother, giving her a detailed report of his search and discoveries. Steps will be taken to place the matter of Lenz's murder before the United States authorities at Washington with the purpose of demanding indemnity from the Turkish government. Sachtelben leaves for home this evening.

United Sunday School Work.

A union or federation of all the Protestant churches in American has often been proposed, but no such union exists, or is likely to be formed, at least for years to come. The Sunday-schools, however representing all the churches and over one sixth of the entire population of the country, have been organized for nearly forty years, and the organization is increasing in strength every year. Sixty states, territories and Canadian provinces are organized, with an annual convention, a board of officers, and auxiliary associations in the counties and townships. An International Convention is held every three years, to which each of the sixty states and provinces sends a delegation.

The International Executive Committee, with headquarters in Chicago keeps a force of secretaries in the field, attending conventions and working for the extension and improvements of the Sunday schools.

The Lesson Committee chooses the socalled International Lessons, which are studied in nearly all the 140,000 Sunday schools of the United States and Canada.

The Eighth International Sunday school Convention is to meet in Boston this year, June 23d to 26th, and a World's Convention will be called to meet next July in London.

Two Places for Anarchists

Rochester, Pa., April 27.—Yesterday Rev. W. C. Weaver, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, during a sermon on "The Bible in the Public School" addressed to the members of the Junior Order American Mechanics, who were present in a body, took the occasion to pay his respects to the anarchists by declaring that there were but two places for them in the United States. One was at the end of a rope, and the other five feet under ground.

HARRISON KLINE, of Spring township, is a candidate for county treasurer, before the coming republican convention. Mr. Kline is an old-time republican, well known to the people of the county and conceded by all to be a first-class candidate. Should he secure the nomination he will be elected and will make one of the best officers this county has ever had. He is a man of sterling integrity, of high moral worth, and would add strength to the ticket.

QUAY WAS ENDORSED

The State Convention at Harrisburg Very Exciting.

Harrisburg, April 28.—The presidential boom of Senator Matthew Stanley Quay was formally launched to-day and the impetus it received by a ratio of 3 to 1, and a desperate effort made to have McKinley endorsed as the second choice failed, although there was a stormy scene The convention re-elected Senator Quay as state chairman, and elected the following as presidential electors at large: Joseph Wharton, Philadelphia; Alex. E. Patton, Clearfield; William Witherow, Allegheny, and Peter L Kimberly, Mercer.

The presidential electors as chosen in the different congressional districts were also ratified They are: First district, Dr. John S. Pearson, Philadelphia; Second, A. B. Rorke, Philadelphia; Third, Frank P. Henley, Philadelphia; Fourth, William M. Taggart, Philadelphia; Fifth, Leonard Myers, Philadelphia; Sixth, Joseph H. Huddell, Delaware; Seventh, William F. Soley, Norristown; Eighth, John Fritz, Bethlehem, Ninth, Henry L. Jonson, Reading; Tenth, John H. Landis, Windom; Eleventh, Everett Warren, Scranton; Twelfth, E. W. Wilde, Luzerne; Thirteenth, Harrison Ball, Schuylkill; Fourteenth, David W. Miller, Lebanon; Fifteenth, Henry C. Prevost, Tunkhannock; Sixteenth, J. V. Brown, Williamsport; Seventeenth, Frederick H. Eaton, Berwick; Eighteenth, G. E. Miller, Lewisburg; Nineteenth, R. H. Shindel, York; Twentieth, George T. Swank, Johnstown; Twenty first, A. C. White, Brookville; Twenty-second, Wm. N. Randolph, Pittsburg; Twenty-third, Emanuel Werthimer, Pittsburg; Twenty-fourth, Josiah Speer, Allegheny; Twenty-fifth, E. E. Abrams, Butler; Twenty-sixth, Isador Sobel, Erie; Twenty seventh, Wm. Schnur, Warren; Twenty-eighth, Joseph C. Campbell, Forest.

The delegates at large to the national convention were chosen as follows: Governor D. H. Hastings; James Elverson, Philadelphia; Frank J. Torrence, Allegheny; James S. Beacom, Westmoreland; T. L. Flood, Crawford; Joseph Bosler, Montgemery; W. W. Griest, Lancaster; F. H. Barker, Cambria. The alternates at large are: Chas. A. Miner, Luzerne; State Senator Boies Penrose, Philadelphia; State Senator Arthur Kennedy, Allegheny; State Senator S J. McCarrell, Dauphin; Frank E. Holler, Cumberland; Chas. W. Miller, Venango; J. B. Raymond, Flair; Charles M. Plank, Berks.

Samuel A. Davenport, Erie, and Galusha A. Grow, Susquehanna, the present incumbent, were nominated as congressmen at large by acclamation. Delegate Robertson, of Allegheny, placed Wm. E. Harrison, of McKee-port, in nomination for this office, but he withdrew his name while the vote was being taken, and upon his motion the nominations of Davenport and Grow were made unanimous.

Ex-State Treasurer H. K. Boyer, of Philadelphia, was temporary chairman of the convention, and Auditor General Amos H. Mylin, of Lancaster, was the permanent chairman.

The convention met at 10.30 a. m., took a recess from 11 55 until 2.05 p. m., and adjourned sine die at 5.15 o'clock.

The opera house in which the state republican convention was held, was crowded with delegates and spectators, a few ladies being in the first gallery, when Frank Willing Leach, chairman of the executive committie of the state committie, called the body to order. The auditorium was tastefully decorated with flags and bunting, and if the sprits of any of the delegates were depressed they were enlivened by strains of a brass band. Mr. Leach officiated in the absence of Senator and state chairman Quay, who this morning went to Washington after he had settled the fight between Leach and deputy attorney general John P. Elkin by continuing in the office himself.

After the roll of delegates had been called ex-District Attorney Holland, of Montgomery county offered a resolution naming Hon. A K Boyer, of Philadelphia, as temporary chairman, and Jere B Rex. of Huntingdon, secretary of the state committee, and Carl F. Espenshade as temporary secretaries. This was adopted.

Mr. Boyer's speech was warmly received. At the mention of Senator Quay's name the cheering lasted for quite a good while, the speaker smiled good naturedly as he awaited for the applause to close. He had occasion several times afterward to refer to Quay, the consequence of which was that he was frequently interrupted by the entusiastic Quay shouters.

Mr. Driesback, of Carbon, offered a resolution referring, without debate, all resolutions to the committee on resolutions were adopted.

The usual resolution for the creation of the committees on credentials, permanent resolutions were adopted.

Congressman Hall Bingman, Philadelphia offered the resolutions creating the platform committee and he was made its chairman.

State Senator Flynn filed notice of a contest in the eighth Allegheny district. Senator Flynn also announced that he had been directed to present to the convention certain acts of assembly in line with the reform suggested by the last republican convention. The bills had been adopted unanimously by the republican city committee of Pittsburg, and at the interest of the committee he presented them to the convention.

During the recess the committee on resolutions met in the senate chamber. The endorsement of the presidential candidacy of Senator Quay was opposed by Chris Magee Harry Hall and John Golden of Pittsburg, and Robert Brownlee, of Lycoming. The endorsement was carried, however by a large majority.

An amendment to the platform recommending that voters at primary elections express their choice for United States senator was indefinitely postponed upon motion of Senator Penrose, of Philadelphia. Mr. Magee offered another amendment to the same effect, but it too was killed. The McKinley resolution was defeated after considerabl debate.

When the convention was again called to order Chairman Andrews, of the committee on credentials, reported that the sitting membeas from the Eighth Allegheny legislative district were entitled to their seats. Senator Flynn offered a minority report seating the contested delegates, David Hardy, W. S. Dalzell and John M. Morrison. In support of his support Mr. Flynn took the stage and declared that the delegates he represented had a majority of 800 over the delegates favored by the majority report.

James F. Burke presented the side of the sitting members, who were endorced by the majority report. He denounced the Pittsburg leaders and said the dark lantern politics of Allegheny county would not prevail in this convention. He pleaded for fair play.

Mr. Flynn replied briefly to Mr. Burke, claiming that the election of his men was fair, and then Senator Baker, of Delaware, supported the minority report.

Mr. Byrne, of Fayette, intimated that the people for whom Mr. Flynn was talking were elected by unfair means, whereupon Mr. Flynn called Mr. Byrne to task, and said that his accusations were false and that he would not submit to this slandering of his constituents.

The question of adopting the Flynn report for that of Andrews was defeated by a vote of 72 yeas to 200 nays. The majority report was then adopted.

The committee on permanent organization reported Hon. Amos Mylin for permanent and Jere B. Bex and Carl F. Espenschade as secretaries. The report was adopted and Mr. Mylin was escorted to the chair by C. L. Magee and Senator Penrose

The most interesting incident of the convention, and a most exciting one, occured this afternoon after Senator Quay had been endorsed for the presidency, and when Codgressman John B. Robinson, of Delaware county, endeavored to put through a resolution favoring McKinley as the second choice. The endorsement of Quay as contained in the first plank of the platform, and the McKinley resolution read thus:

"In the event of the retirement of the Peunsylvania candidate for president endorsed this day Hon. Matthew Stanley Quay, all honorable means have been exhausted to promote his nomination, the delegates-at-large from the state are hereby instructed to vote for and support the candidacy of the Napoleon of protection and advance agent of prosperty, Hon. William McKinley, of Ohio."

Silas W. Pettit, president of the Philadelphia Union league, moved to lay the amendment on the table.

The yeas and nays were called, but before the roll call began Mr. Robinson got the floor on a point of order. He shook his finger at Mr. Pettit and said it was very strange that a gentleman who came into this convention as the particular apostle of reform should be first to—

Here the crowd broke loose and attempted to howl Robinson down, and the chair ordered the roll to be called.

Robinson stood in the main aisle with a howling crowd about him, his right arm raised, trying to make himself heard. He insisted that he had the floor, but cries of 'Sit down," "Throw him out," etc., drowned out his voice. The clerk was about to call the roll when Robinson insisted that he should not proceed.

After Robinson and Penrose had spoken on the subject and the convention had rejected the amendment C. L. Magee arose and said that with the declaration of the principles of the platform he was in accord, but with the endorsement of Quay he was not in accord, and in this he represented his district, which had voted heavily in favor of McKinley.

A resolution suspending the party rules in order that the convention could elect a state chairman was carried, and Senator Quay was unanimously re-elected.

A resolution giving the state committee the power to fill any vacancies which may occur in the list of candidates was adopted, and the convention adjourned sine die.

Where, Oh, Where?

The streets of Bellefonte are, just at present, in a disgraceful condition as far as cleanliness is concerned. It is not the make-up of the streets that we complain of, but the condition they are kept in is something terrible. In the first place, it is dangerous for travellers to drive horses along the streets and run the risk of having their horses frightened by the blowing of scrape of paper all over the streets. And then again it is so unsightly to have so much waste paper lying around on the pavements and gutters. Here is certainly an opportunity for the Village Improvement Society to make itself noticed. The president should take this matter in hand and see that this practice is stopped at once. Surely it would be a credit to the town if our streets would present at least a respectable appearance. Our impression was that the Village Improvement Society was organized to try to beautify the town If such is the case they had better soon start or it will soon be impossible to make any headway. There really should not be even the smallest piece of paper allowed to be thrown on the street. If it is necessary to distribute paper around town, the Improvement Society should see that they are cleaned up after they are of no use and not allowed to make our streets look like barnyards. The Village Improvers were very active last year and accomplished a good bit of work, making our streets look inviting and beautiful. But, sad to relate, we have heard nothing of them this year, and if we ever did need them we do now.

A lesson could be learned from the Philipsburg Village Improvement Society, which would greatly benefit our city. Out there each merchant is compelled to sweep off his pavement and out to the middle of the street. A wagon then comes along and gathers up the dirt and refuse and thus the streets are kept clean. Large cans are placed here and there along the streets and all waste paper, etc., is thrown into them. The result is that Philipsburg is ten times neater and more respectable looking than Bellefonte. This should not be. Village Improvers, get awake and stir the people up. You can do it if you only try.

ACCEPTED THE CALL.

Rev. Harvey Greme Furbay Ph. D. Will Go to Philadelphia.

Rev. Harvey Furbay Ph. D. today in a letter to the officers of the congregation of the Oxford Presbyterian church of Philadelphia, signified his accepeance of the invitation recently extended to him by that congregation to become their pastor.

A pro re nata meeting of Huntingdon presbptery has been called to meet in Tyrone at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, May 2, for the purpose of dissolving the pastoral relations now existing between Dr. Furbay and the First Presbyterian church of Tyrone. Dr. Furbay will present his resignation of the pastorate of the Tyrone church to the congregation next Wednesday evenwhen proper action will be taken preliminary to bringing the matter before the presbytery. Philadelphia presbytey will meet on Monday May 4, when Dr. Furbay will doubtless be received into that body, and arrangements will be made for his installation in his new pastorate.

It is likely that Dr. Furbay will enter upon his ministry of the Oxford congregation, therefore, on Sunday May 10, so that there remain but two Sundays that he will occupy the pulpit of the Tyrone Presbyterian church.—Tyrone Herald

True as Gospel.

That the tariff policy of our Government is not for revenue only, but protects capital at the expense of the industries, and does rob the poor to help the rich. We will find that in any country where coin is the basis of money, agriculture is depressed and the laborer is ground to earth, and everything is prejudiced to the interest of the producer. You will find that the price of our products bear a certain relation to the volume of money in circulation, and anything that diminishes the purchasing value one-half is the same as destroying one-half of it by cyclone or other means so far as paying for and buying supplies are concerned; which in our case is the result of the influence of the money combine on legislation, causing a contracting of the circulating medium of silver.

You will find that the policy of our Government in protecting the interest of manufacture at the expense of agriculture enables bleak New England to loan to both the South and West, while the new wealth is being concentrated in that barren desert, either sections with fertile fields and green pastures are groaning beneath an increasing load of debt. Our financial system is built upon the drainage process, and the streams all lead to common centers. Money trusts control the circulating medium of and estimates the value of that medium. It is not the coffee, sugar, barb wire, oil or jute upon which a trust is formed, neither is it the administration (for Mr. Cleveland done his whole duty) but it is the vicious legislation and nefaring laws to-day blasting our hopes.

The laws are formed in the interest of capital and capital sees that the law makers are in sympathy with their plans. The unused millions, beyond the reach of common people, constitute a fund with which the moneyed kings buy every indispensible product and come on the same, exhort such prices as suits their taste and then talk of supply and demand. WANTED.

"An ugly case," remarked Jim to me confidentially; a very ugly case indeed!"

The unconscious patient, borne into our surgery upon a stretcher, was frightfully injured. That was evident at a glance.

He was a passenger by a ship just arrived from the Cape, and while preparing to come ashore a heavy box, swung aloft by the vessel's crane, had slipped and fallen on him.

Jim Clifford and I were partners in an east end practice, close to the docks.

His blood soaked clothing bore no marks which could lead to his identification.

No limbs were broken, but the neck and shoulder were fearfully lacerated, and one side of the face was dreadfully mangled. It was not until late the following evening that he seemed to recover his senses, and then of course he was too weak to converse,

Jim was strongly in favor of his removal, as soon as practicable, to the nearest hospital. The sick man must have overheard our conversation, for he signed feebly to my colleague to stoop down.

"Not to the hospital. for heaven's sake!" whispered the poor fellow. "Anywhere but there. Stay here—no friends—soon be better," he gasped painfully.

Neither of us had the heart to remove our patient against his will, though his stay involved one of us being constantly in the house and the services of a male attendant as well.

Days and weeks slipped by, and though our patient hovered between life and death more than once, he continued to stay with us and to engross more or less of our attention.

The singular thing was that apparently the patient was without relatives or friends in this country—did not know a soul in London. So he told us, bit by bit, adding that his name was Octave Henry, and that he had been in South Africa for many years. A couple of rude sea chests, sent up from the ship, contained all his belongings.

"I'll tell you what it is," said Jim in his own emphatic way as we sat together in our snuggery one night, "I'll tell you what it is, Fraser our friend up stairs will slip through our fingers after all if we don't look out. There's brain mischief setting in from some splintered bone, and unless we can do something to remove the brain pressure well, good-by to his chance of life!',

Our patient willingly gave his consent to the operation, and the whole affair was arranged and carried out within a week.

Recovering from the operation of trepanning is always tardy. In the case of the man Henry, with his already shattered physique, is was more than unusually protracted.

One morning I remember well. Clifford and I were by the bedside. The patient, for some time being, had revived sufficiently to show himself conscious of our presence and feebly to sign his wants.

But there was something about the appearence of the eyes that morning which struck me as being unusual, a curious preoccupied look. When Jim and I had left him to the care of his attendant, I remarked upon this symptom.

"You noticed it then?" Answered Jim moodily. "I thought you would. Ah, but that is only one aspect of the case, not the most serious either!"

Here he broke off abruptly. I waited, without speaking, till he began once more.

"Did you ever study the subject of sense transference?"

I confessed that I had not done so to any great extent.

"It begins to occur to me that that is what we have to deal with in this case—nothing more or less. However it has happened, that one thing is very plain to me—that the sense of hearing in this case is not absolutely destroyed, but, as I may put it, diverted into the optic region—grafted as it were into the sense of sight."

"But is such a thing possible?" I exclaimed anxiously.

"Yes, theoretically it is," returned my partner gravely. "but practically no example of it has yet occurred in the case—that is, of a human being. I can only guess that in the present instance purely accidental causes have led up to it. But the fact remains that, as I have just said, the man now sees—actually sees, remember—that which, in ordinary circumstances, he would have heard."

My colleague's diagnosis proved to be true, as we soon found. Little by little, as consciousness returned, it became painfully evident that the patient's senses had become what I may call, for want of a better word, entangled.

With what startling vividness such sensations thus took bodily shape before him we could only surmise from his excited manner. Sensitive to an extraordinary degree to every breath, every whisper around him, his staring eyeballs to plainly showed how the faculty of vision was exalted, in his case, to a preternatural extent.

"Please, sir," said a maidservant at the door; "please, sir. Dr. Clifford wants you up stairs at once"

Clifford and the attendant were holding down the patient by main force upon the bed. He was struggling to rise, and the expression of his face was one of terror. His eyes seemed as if starting from their sockets.

"Something has induced a violent paroxysm," whispered Jim. "He can't last long if it continues."

The sick man sank back on his pillows. His lips moved. By stooping over him I could catch some of his words

"They are coming—coming now" he gasped, "ever so far away, but I can see them! Something moves before them—something dark! I cant make it out! Something about to break! Will it save poor Octave? Will it"—

"Visibly worse," said Clifford aside to me, "and the pulse abnormally high. If this goes on, he will be in a high fever before long."

It was a breathless summer evening, but the sky was overcast with murky clouds foreboding a tempest. The room already grew dark with the shadow of its coming.

Suddenly there was a loud knocking at the front door. Presently I heard voices in conversation, then heavy footsteps began to ascend the stairs.

At that instant a rose colored flash gleamed through the darkness of the room, a terrific peal of thunder followed, its echoes crashing and rolling as if the building were about to fall upon our heads. The sick man sprang convulsive to an almost upright position in his bed then fell backward—dead!

The door opened. There was a pause, and two plainly drassed men slipped quietly into the room.

"Dr. Clifford, I presume?" inquired the formost politely.

Jim nodded assent wonderingly.

"I have a very painful duty to perform in respect of your patient here," continued the speaker fumbling a paper as he spoke: a very painful duty indeed. But the fact is I hold a warrant for his apprehension under the name of Henry—Octave Henry—on a charge of"

"My patient," interposed Jim very quietly, he has just obeyed another summons. The man died while you were coming up the stairs.

From the explanation which ensued it seemed that our late patient had long been "wanted" by the police on no less charge than that of murder. Doubtless his unwillingness to be removed to a hospital arose from his persuasion that he was safer from detection in a private dwelling.

Guilty or not guilty of the crime he was accused of, it was long before Jim and I ceased to speak of him.

Nor, in turn had he forgotten us. We were handsomely remembered in the will he had executed before the operation. But we will never again undertake the care of a resident patient.—Answers.

Bellefonte Stands First.

For the $1,000,000 memorial fund of the Presbyterian church, the Huntingdon Presbytery has contributed $4,498. Of this amount the Bellefonte church has contributed $1,018; Tyrone is next with $475; Huntingdon, $418; Lewistown, $300; Hollidaysburg, $279; the three churches of Altoona, $393; and Birmingham, $134. Eleven churches out of a total of fifty-eight did not contribute anything.—Lock Haven Democrat.

CATARRH

COLD IN HEAD

A High Testimonial.

MIDDLEPORT, O., Feb. 28, 1 88.

To whom it may concern:—Mr. F. B. Weigle, proprietor of the military drama known as the "Drummer Boy of Shiloh," has just closed an engagement with Middleport Post, No. 125, G. A. R., at this place, and deeming it a matter of justice to him, (without his solicitation) as Commander of the above named Post, I cheerfully recommend him and the "Drummer Boy" to the favorable consideration of whomsoever he may come in contact. As a play it stands unequalled and drew full houses at Middleport. To say that Mr. Weigle s fully competent to drill a cast of ordinary intelligence, and present the play, is less than the whole truth. We wish him abundant success wherever he goes, and confidently commend him to the public, with a full assurance that he is a gentleman in the truest sense of the word.

Very respectfully,

J. C. BISHOP, M. D.

Be sure and see this splendid attraction, at Garman's Opera House, April 29 and 30 and May 1. The chart is now out.

Mixed on the Law.

New Castle, Pa, April 23.—A case that interests all the medical profession all over the state has been decided by the state medical counsel. Dr. Seeley, a traveling eye and ear doctor, has been in the city for some time, and the local medical society, after some discussion, compelled him under the act of 1877 to pay a license of $50 to the county treasurer and $5 fees to the clerk of courts. A discovery was made by Dr Seeley that the act of '81 did away with that of '77, taxing transient as stated above. In 1883 another act was passed which was also supposed to null that of '77. A letter was written to the state board and this body at first said that the act of '77 was null and void but a subsequent letter has been received that states that it is in force. Dr. Seeley has retained counsel and propose to compel the authorities to return him the money he has paid.

—A shooting affair was narrowly averted on Saturday evening. Pat Toner tried to break in his wife's house about midnight. Officer Garis found him with a stone in one hand and a revolver in the other. He was lodged in jail but was afterwards released on bail.

Indispensable

✲ In Diphtheria

Is Bovinine, as has been attested by thousands of physicians. One of the many testimonials we have received is one from Dr. Arthur P. Ginn of Omaha, which reads, "I used Bovinine in several cases of diphtheria, and was successful with the cases. This to me is sufficient evidence of its value, no other food being used during treatment, except the milk used as vehicle for its administration."

being a food product, made by a special cold process from lean beef, is easy to take, quickly assimilated, speedy in its life-promoting properties, is invaluable as a life-giver when it is necessary to maintain strength to carry a patient over the crisis of a disease. In diphtheria and other throat troubles where it has become impossible to take nourishment by the mouth, Bovinine has sustained life for weeks, administered as an injection.

POMONA NO. 22 DISCUSSES RURAL FREE MAIL DELIVERY.

All That Is in the Way Is That the Abuse of the Franking Privilege by Other Departments Keeps the Post-office too Poor.

At the recent meeting of Pomona Grange No 22, (Bucks and Phila'd) a number of important questions of a public character were discussed. The second question was in regard to free mail delivery in the rural districts, and was referred to Bro. J. C. Kirkbride, of the Executive Committee of the State Grange who is reported in the Philadelphia Public Ledger as saying: There could be but one answer, inasmuch as the mail service is supported by the people for the people, and all classes were alike entitled to its benefits. * * * We are met by the assertion that it is not possible to extend the delivery to the rural districts for lack of funds. If this be the case, it is because the Government is not running its Post-office Department on business principles and by reason of the abuse of the franking privilege. As it is, every department of the Government except that of Justice throws upon the Post-office Department a portion of its expense in the transmission of its documents and its correspondence, and it is on record that the Geological Survey, when it discontinued its work at a far-away point, instead of sending the shovels and hammers and overcoats and specimens and all the rest by express, and to be paid for out of its appropriation as a legitimate expense, sent under frank by mail, and kept their appropriation for other purposes. The records, he said, show plenty of similar cases, where the Post-office Department is charged with the work of other departments and with nothing to balance on the credit side. That is to say ten men are deprived of their right that one man may have a special privilege. Were the expense of each department met by the appropriation of that department there would be money enough to the credit of the Post-office Department to provide free delivery wherever the mail is carried, and in doing this give employment to more people.

The matter, viewed from the farmers stand-point, showed that the quantity of first class matter from the rural districts would be greatly increased if farmers did not have to wait a week to send them off, and that the circulation of the daily newspapers would be largely extended if they could be delivered daily.

The nice discrimination of the postal service was illustratated in the fact that a pound of wheat or corn in the grain could be sent to the miller for eight cents, but ground into flour or meal it would cost 16 cents to send it back.

the figures and facts in the case?

In 1792 Congress encouraged the unrestricted coinage of gold and silver, and while this was the case agriculture and commerce prospered, during the period a young man could purchase a farm and with the proceeds pay for it. In 1866 we had in circulation about $40 or $50 per capita. By fraud or accident in 1872, a radical change was wrought and the coin of silver was restricted to the export demand.

In 1877 the amount "per capita" contracted until we had only about $16 or $17 now much less. Since this the agricultural values have depreciated 40 to 50 per cent.—Exchange.

The Encampment Will Not Come.

Captain Slagle went to Harrisburg Wednesday to meet the National Guard officials with reference to the location of the encampment. When told that Lewistown had been decided upon for the encampment, he said that the amount subscribed by the citizens was $1700 short of that needed to pay for the land, and that he saw no prospect of raising it, when it was declared settled that the encampment would not come here, as the State makes no provision for paying for land. The officials will visit Mt. Gretna to morrow and the probabilities are that the Lebanon county site will be selected. This is unfortunate, but if our citizens cannot see their way clear to furnish the land there seems no help for it.—Democrat & Sentinel.

ACADEMY BOYS DEFEATED

The College Preps Too Much For the Bellefonte Team.

Saturday afternoon the Academy Base Ball club hied themselves off to State College to cross bats with the College Preps. It was the first game of the season for the Academy boys and it was thus an opportunity to size up the material and also suggest probable changes in the make-up of the team. Bunn's hack conveyed the boys to the field of battle and soon the game was in progress. Frenchy Montgomery went along to add confidence to the boys and make the team look biz. But alas it accomplished little. Frenchy became entangled in the complexion of a pretty College Miss and that was the last of him. He never showed up until it was time to start for home. Had he stayed things would have been different, but as it was the College boys were victorious by the score of 15 to 4.

It was a great day though, and although the Academy boys were defeated for the time being, they were not vanquished. They played and won more games on their trip home than were ever won before in so short a time. Bob Valentine explained how close he came to pounding out a home run, saying that had his bat been just two inches higher he would have made it easy, but as it was, three strikes and out. Dan. Keller proved himself to be a second Monte Ward and played the game of his life. Big Dan Brouthers John Curtin planked out four or five six base hits, but unfortunately was defrauded of proper credit for them. If it hadn't been for this, and if it hadn't been for that, the Academy boys would have won hands down.

The return trip was made with safety and about 8 o'clock Saturday night the youthful base ballists were safe in their mammas' arms again. They speak in glowing terms of their treatment at the College and express themselves as determined to get down to practice and defeat the Preps if it takes a whole year to do it. We hope they will—in fact have no doubt of it.

The make-up of the Academy team was as follows: Henderson, catcher; Barger, pitcher; Mahaffey, 1st B.; Thompson 2nd B., John Curtin, cpt, 3rd B; D. Keller, S. S.; Valentine, L. F; Rogers, C. F.; Jim Curtin, R. F. Subs, Eldredge and L. Hughes. Time of game, 2 weeks.

—The Kurtz-Focht Libel suit comes up this week and some spicy testimony is promised.

LIQUOR WAR AT BUTLER.

Temperance People Will Fight the Granting of Licenses.

Butler, Pa., April 23.—Although license court will not be held until the second week in June, the temperance people are becoming very active preparatory to a vigorous campaign against the liquor dealers at that time and the fight against the granting of licenses this year promises to be a bitter one. This afternoon closes a series of lectures by W. T. McConnell, who has scathingly denounced the liquor men of Butler "as the lowest and most contemptible crowd he has ever encountered, not excepting the Bowery dive keeper's in New York."

McConnell sprung a sensation when he announced that it was the intention of the temperance people of the town to publish a list of the signers of the applications for license, together with the dealers bondsmen, and if none of the papers in Butler would publish the list, several thousand dollars had already been pledged for the establishment of a newspaper that would publish it. The leading temperance advocates say they mean business, and the new paper will certainly be established unless their requests are complied with.

Other speakers have been engaged and from now until the meeting of the license court no effort will be spared to stir up sentiment against the granting of license.

HE WAS A LUCKY MAN INDEED

Andrew Etters of Clearfield Loses $200 One Day But Finds It And Not a Cent Missing.

On Thursday Andrew Etters of Clearfield came to Bellefonte for the purpose of buying some horses. He spent several hours in taking in the sights of our city until after dinner, when he started up towards John Rishel's beyond Axe Mann, where he expected to do some dealing. He had with him about $200 which was in a pocket book in his coat pocket. When he arrived at Rishel's he discovered that his money was missing and was no where to be found. He searched everywhere for it but was compelled to give up the search without finding his lost cash. Where his hard earned money was he could not imagine. Without it he could not deal in horses and thus his whole trip would amount to nothing.

He came back to Bellefonte in the evening and staid here over night. Getting up bright and early this morning he started up over the road he had traveled on Thursday and again commenced a search for his two hundred. He reached Axe Mann but could find nothing of his pocket book although he had examined every inch of the road carefully. When he was about half way up Rishel's hill he saw something lying on the road all covered with dust. He gave it a kick with his foot when to his great joy he discovered it was the pocketbook which he had lost the day before. Hastily opening it he found the money safe and not a cent missing. To say that he was happy is putting it mildly. It was a very unfortunate trip with a very lucky ending. Mr. Etters says he will be more particular where he carries his purse in the future.

To Meet in Bellefonte.

The District Convention of the Epworth League of Blair, Clearfield and Centre counties will be held in this city on Thursday and Friday, May 7 and 8. Two hundred delegates and ministers will be in attendance and everything tends towards a very successful convention. The sessions will be held in the Methodist church and many eminent divines are expected to be present. These conventions grow larger each year and this one, it is expected, will be the largest ever held in the Central District.

Etlinger's Body Raised.

At last the hearts of the Woodward people seem to have been softened to the dreadful tragedy that had so lately occured in their midst, to the extent of permitting the body of William Etlinger. the outlaw, murderer and suicide, to be raised from the lopely grave in the wilds and be given decent burial in the little cemetery of that hamlet. The raising and transferring of the body was witnessed by a large crowd of curious people. but no indignities were offered.

Making Repairs.

Extensive repairs are being made at the law offices occupied by John Blanchard and J. Thomas Mitchell on High street. A new coat of paint on the exterior and a general overhauling on the interior is transforming the place into one of the coziest and most complete in the city.

Mr. Ira A. Smith is the genial clerk and he fills his position with a dignity and grace that adds much to the success of the house. Bellefonters going to Lock Haven will make no mistake by stopping at the Fallon House.

MARRIED AT HIGH NOON.

Linn Street the Scene of a Pretty but Quiet Home Wedding on Wednesday.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized at high noon to-day at the home of Mr. Moyer Lyon on Linn street. The contracting parties were Mr. Lewis Grauer and Miss Mathilde Lyon, both residents of this city. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Piloh of Altoona and was witnessed by but a few immediate relatives and friends.

Preparations had been in order for several days getting ready for the happy event. The house was tastefully decorated with beautiful palms, hot house plants and cut flowers. It was a pink and white wedding and the floral decorations were mainly in these colors.

The ceremony was performed in the South West parlor. Prof. W. A. Goodwin played the wedding march as the bride and groom appeared and waited for the nuptial knot to be tied. The couple stood under a bower of tall palms and looked supremely happy. The scene was an enchanting one. Beautiful decorations of carnations and violets adorned the walls while the chandeliers were literally covered with smilax. The bride carried a handsome boquet of Lillies of the Valley and Orange blo soms. The little flower girl, Miss Lichten, carried a huge boquet of daisies.

After the ceremony was over the newly married couple were showered with the congratulations of all present. Everyone then repaired to the dining room were Caterer Ceader had a delicious wedding breakfast prepared. Mr. and Mrs. Grauer then took an afternoon train for a two weeks' bridal tour to Baltimore and Washington. They will return to Bellefonte and will make their home in this city.

Among the guests present were Mr. Nathan Hanau of Reynoldsville, an uncle of the bride: Agustus Lyon Philadelphia, Miss Victorine Lyon, Philadelphia, Mrs. Lichten, Phila. Mrs Adolph Loeb, Phila. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lyon, Bellefonte.

Wedding Bells Ring.

A pretty wedding was that on Thursday evening at the Catholic parsonage. The contracting parties were Mr. John McSuley and Miss Elizabeth Howard, both of this city. Promptly at 8 o'clock the bridal couple appeared before Father McArdle. They were attended by Mr. Harry Walkey and Miss Mary McSuley, the latter a sister of the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple were showered with the congratulations of the guests and then all repaired to the home of the bride, where a delicious wedding supper had been prepared. Several hours were spent very pleasantly this way and then everybody departed for home.

Mr. McSuley is a young man of considerable ability. He has excellent talent in fine painting and controls a good business in this city. Miss Howard is originally from Lock Haven, but lately has been making her home with her uncle, Mr. Robert Miller, on High street. She is a young lady well fitted to occupy her new position in life and make a kind and devoted wife. We wish the newly married couple much success and happiness.

Shrinking of the Sleeve.

Finally and at last the sleeve is shrinking into its old proportions and all the interlinings formerly employed to distend the balloon are left away. It might be supposed from this that the dimensions of the skirt would shrink likewise, but this is not at all certain—in fact, probable. The flute folds are just as large as ever in spite of the many endeavors to do away with or modify them, and in order to keep the skirt expanded properly interlining must still be used.

The Bucket Fell Apart.

On Saturday a lady from Houserville came to Bellefonte to sell some eggs. She drove up in front of Ceader's bakery and lifting a bucket full out of the wagon started to take them into the store. But the bottom gave away and as the eggs quietly dropped to the ground they formed an omolet that would have caused envy to any hotel chef. The poor lady dried her tears and dissappeared in the throng that cruelly grinned at her misfortune.

PECULIAR DEATH.

Night Watchman Impaled on a Steel Bar at Renovo.

George Comoh, a Hungarian, night watchman in the paint shops at Renovo, met death in a peculiar manner some time Saturday night. The accident must have occured between 12 and 1 o'clock as the watchman had registered the making of his round at 12 o'clock. It is supposed that after making his trip at that hour Mr. Comoh had stood a ladder against the boiler or engine for the purpose of repairing a leaky steam valve. The ladder being a little too short the man had used a steel bar with which to pry the valve around a little farther. In some manner the bar fell out of Mr. Comoh's hands and stuck point upwards in a trough below. The force of the escaping steam, it is believed, threw the watchman off the ladder and in falling he was impaled on the bar, the piece of steel entering the body under the right shoulder and running through the breast until it touched the heart. The man evidently died without a struggle, as the grasp of his hand on the lantern had not relaxed any.

The unfortunate man was transfixed in that position until yesterday morning, when S. M. Buck, who was passing the paint shop and hearing the steam escaping peered through a window to see what was the cause of the tronble. He saw the body of the watchman in the washing trough and at once notified the men in main office. The body was carried to another building, where Dr. Fullmer made an examination. Squire J. W. Smith, acting under instructions from Coroner Hayes, empannelled a jury and a verdict of accidental death was rendered.

The deceased was about 40 years old and is survived by his wife and several children. He had only held the position of night watchman for a short time.

Not coming to his breakfast at the usual time, his wife had left the house and was walking to the shop to summon him when she was told by one of the men that her husband had been injured. Later on the sad truth was told her when her grief was pitiful to witness.—Lock Haven Democrat.

Throat Disease Cured with Grapes and Horehound.

The noted old nurse, descendant of Holland Dutch, discovered that a certain combination of Grapes with the Horehound Herb and the Root of Elacampane made into a cordial will cure sore throat and coughs and is excellent for colds, catarrh and all irritation of the bronchial tubes, tonsils and throat, and for singers and public speakers. Druggists say the sales are immense, and it is doing great good. It is called Aunt Rachael's Elecampane and Horehound Cordial.

In cases of burns, sprains, scalds or any of the other accidental pains likely to come to the human body, Dr. Thomas, Electric Oil gives almost instant relief.

Death at State College.

Mrs. John Osmond, aged about 50 years, died at her late home at State College, on Tuesday evening, after an illness dating back about five weeks. The deceased was a highly respected lady and her death will be keenly felt in the community in which she lived. A husband and one child are left to mourn the loss of a devoted wife and a kind and loving mother. The funeral will be held on Friday.

Mrs. C. L. Knox, has rented the, house on Spring Street at two doors above the Centre County Bank, lately occupied by Dr Tobin, and has opened a first class boarding house. Her charges are reasonable and will be made known on application. Mrs. Knox has had large experience as a boarding house keeper and knows how to serve up the best kind of meals, in the most elegant fashion. She can accommodate you with room and board, or table board alone, if you want a good homelike boarding place, call and see her. See advertisement in another column.

Penns Valley.

W. L. Goodhart of Millheim went to Spring Mills on Saturday last on Telephone business. He says all the business men there are decidedly in favor of it. The company intends extending the line to Bellefonte at the earliest possible moment.

The old store room formerly occupied by W. N. Musser, has been rented to a party from Lycoming county. They intend keeping a general store.

They tell me that trout fishing up above Spring Mills so far has proved a miserable failure. True some have been caught but very few, and what were landed just about escaped the four or five necessary inches.

The farmers of Penns Valley have been, and are yet very busy plowing. Some of the wheat fields look fairly well while others look decidedly off.

The Spring Mills Citizens Band under the instructions of Prof. W. A. Brown is improving quite rapidly. They expect to be able to parade with the G. A. R. on Decoration Day.

The Musser Hotel at Millheim will be entirely remodeled this coming summer. This will be a decided improvement to the neighborhood.

Aaronsburg has two meat wagons running through the Valley twice a week. Weaver and Bower. They were formerly in partnership but dissolved, and are now in opposition, both are doing fairly well. But of course the prices are cut to pieces, so neither is making a fortune, but the people get cheap meat.

Baker Ballot Law.

At Ebensburg, on Monday, Judge Barker put on record an opinion which is of much interest, since it involves a point in the interpretation of the Baker ballot law. Following is a condensation:

"In recontested election for supervisor in East Taylor township, John Keiper was an independent candidate and therefore his name was not printed on the ticket, and four persons who wrote his name in the column provided for that purpose did not mark a cross after it. These tickets were rejected by the election officers. This was wrong, as the act expressly says it is not necessary to mark with a cross in such cases."

The counting of these votes elects Keiper by two votes.

Sad Accident at Karthaus.

At Karthaus recently May Minerva, daughter of J. G. Emerick, was playing with a number of companions on a railroad turntable at that place. In jumping to the track she was caught by the turntable, which was being moved by a companion, and terribly injured. One leg was broken above the knee and several ligaments were cut. On the other leg the bone was supposed to have been crushed and a piece of iron forced through the fleshy part of the thigh. The little girl died that evening. She was nearly 12 years old. Her remains were taken to Centre Hall for interment.

A Strange Animal.

Thomas Brown, a resident of Robertsdale, this county, killed an animal that puzzles the oldest hunters and trappers for a name. It's head resembles that of a cat. except that it has a long, sharp head and whiskers, or bristles, protruding from the upper lip about three inches long. It's body is of dark lead color, heavily furred with a fleece or wool like that of a sheep. The fur on the four inch tail resembles that of a 'possum.' A long slim neck like that of a coon are the characteristic features of this nameless animal. It measures about 13 inches from the back to the ground. Young Brown, his two dogs and the lad's father had a lively tussle with the animal.—Huntingdon News.
